To Whom It May Concern:

It is my pleasure to provide this letter of reference for Atomic Pest Control. Jupiter Investment Group is the owner/manager of over 1400 apartment homes in the Phoenix Metropolitan area. With over 1400 apartment homes, we definitely have encountered our share of pest control problems. Like many property management companies we have tried, tested and used numerous pest control companies (both large and small) over the years, but we are very happy with our selection of Atomic Pest Control, and the service we have received from them.

In making our pest control company selection, price definitely was a major factor. While Atomic's competitive pricing helped them secure our business, it is their commitment to strong customer service that has helped them maintain it. The service we have received from both the pest control technicians and our account representatives has been excellent. Atomic understands that a pest control company is only as good as its technicians. While not every technician has been perfect, the prompt and professional response we have received from the Atomic office and Brent Harberston whenever a situation has arisen has been excellent. Brent in particular, has always taken the time to not only help resolve situations and explain issues to our management and office staff, but more importantly to our residents. In our business, where our customer's see the pest control technicians as an extension of our office and maintenance team, I am very comfortable knowing that Brent and the Atomic team will represent us well.

If you are looking for a full service pest control company committed to eliminating your problems and not causing you more, look no further than Atomic Pest Control. On behalf of Jupiter Investment Group and all of our residents, it is my pleasure to provide this letter of recommendation for Atomic Pest Control.

Sincerely,

Robert Lang
